I don't think its intentional, but one thing you showed in this video is how broken racial dialogue is rn.

Where black ppl are unlimited in what they are allowed to say, and white ppl are ultra constrained in what they can say.

The white perspective has been completely shut out, and it has made racial dialogue so broken. where whites have to tread very carefully to not upset or rattle POC. or else the cries of "racist" come about, that then get incorrectly conflated as the point being invalid.

Which is terrible as the white perspective on race is literally the most essential. As its their countries and nations that are being systematically invaded, infiltrated, subverted, and overtaken.

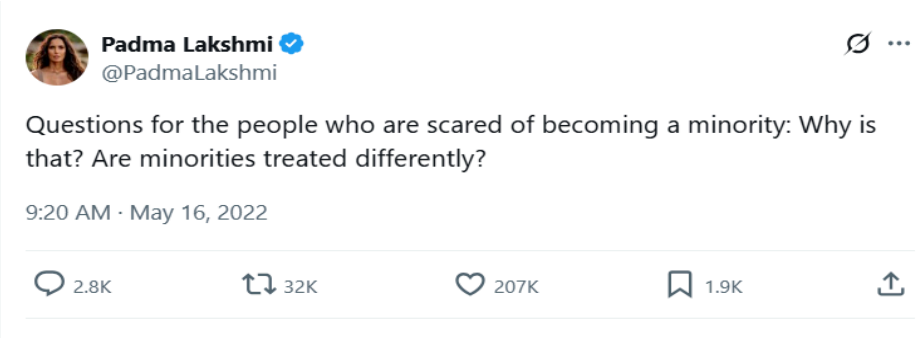
Literally everything that white people "aren't allowed to say" is where all the answers to the race problem are going to lie.

with that, literally everything white societies (in USA and beyond) have done is re-configure all of society to accommodate black/brown fragility, insecurity, mediocrity, and incompetence.

its why its incredibly easy for blacks to get intimidated and rattled during "honest conversations about race", when its just white people being direct. As blacks are so used to sanitized conversations that accommodate and placate their blackness. its the post-civil rights bubble that blacks have gotten used to.

and if looking at privilege as a concept correctly, there is no more privileged race of people than the black/brown person living in a white country.

which is why so much of the most invalid fuckshit gets said by black and brown ppl completely unchallenged. as POC living in white nations are the ultimate sacred cow. and there is real social risk and punishment if whites were to speak up and challenge blacks/POC on their tenets.



take this for example. On multiple angles, this talking point can be completely eviscerated by white people. but that would mean whites having to say the things that they "aren't allowed to say". of which POC would cry racist to just skirt around the argument.

I won't do the multiple angles, but the most obvious is that being a minority in a country that isn't yours and being systematically made a minority in your own country that your own race of people created are two entirely different things.

Just admitting that USA is a white nation that white people created is enough to bring entire communities of color in collective hysteria. Despite their admissions tacitly admitting it. "USA was founded on white supremacy" is literally just a cowardly way to skirt around the fact that black people/POC are admitting that USA is a white nation.

USA is a white nation that was created, built and started by white people FOR white people. its literally an extension of white European civilization like Australia, new Zealand, Canada. there was not "America" until white people created it.

Redskin tribes had a hodgepodge of lands, largely primitive and undeveloped. White people conquered, settled, and built up a new civilization from the ground up from scratch. (During a period when that was literally the norm, so there is no guilt tripping that can be done). From its creation, constitution, revolution, declaration, culture, architecture, infrastructure, cities, way of life, etc. Everything in America is an extension of white people, culture and what they created.

its better to be a minority in a white country than anywhere else, but that in and of itself threatens the very narratives that BIPOC like to delude themselves with.

the only thing that keeps the delusional tenets of blackness (and fragile identity) of blackness alive is their access to white people and white countries.

the moment blacks lose access to USA/Europe/Canada,etc. Everything about blackness crumbles. Its why blacks indulge in the inherent contradiction of claiming they are oppressed and the victims of "Systemic racism" but then are terrified of the prospect of being removed from America.

if blacks are so "oppressed" why would you be afraid of being removed from America?

if blacks are so strong, powerful, excellent, proud, etc, then why would blacks be afraid of being with their own people in Africa? Where blacks have all the power, are the majority and the default? What are blacks afraid of?

If whites are so evil, why would blacks be afraid of no longer being tethered to white people and their respective countries?

blacks get unnerved and feral whenever "leave for Africa" gets used. but the reality is that blacks have no valid reason to get angry. Its whites taking black people to their logical conclusion and making them answer for their rhetoric.

the reason why blacks get so angry, fragile, and agitated by "leave for Africa" is that it is calling black peoples bluff. It exposes that blacks really aren't oppressed and don't actually think they are victims of systemic racism. its all lip service.

its also black people being hurt and humbled as they realize how unwanted and unneeded they are. its a strike to the black ego as a BIG symptom of the black inferiority complex is to project a false sense of importance and accomplishment.

blacks deep down know how good they have it being black in America. blacks know how good they have it being black in a white country.

the cries of oppression are just a way to keep the gravy train going. a way to be deceitful and use inversion of truth to cover up the fact that black people are completely dependent on white people and white society to provide for them.

all black people know is living in a white nation and expecting white people/culture/society to provide for them all black people know is being needy dependents within a white nation that accommodates them all black people know is riding on the coattails of what white people created, built, and pioneered in all black people know is being entrenched in a white society and being civilized and elevated by said white society that they are living in and it is particularly that reason why black people hate white people so much. Jealousy and dependency breed contempt.

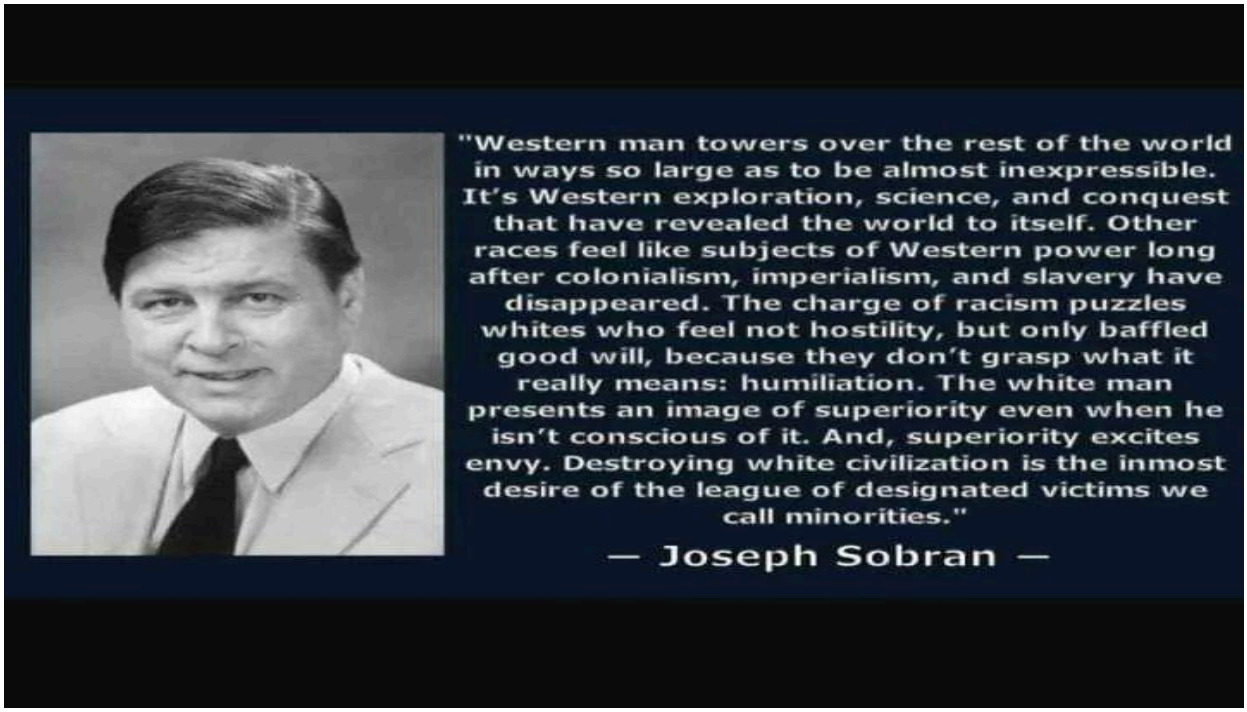
This Sobran quote explains so succinctly all the problems of race today:



"Western man towers over the rest of the world in ways so large as to be almost inexpressible. It's Western exploration, science, and conquest that have revealed the world to itself. Other races feel like subjects of Western power long after colonialism, imperialism, and slavery have disappeared. The charge of racism puzzles whites who feel not hostility, but only baffled good will, because they don't grasp what it really means: humiliation. The white man presents an image of superiority even when he isn't conscious of it. And, superiority excites envy. Destroying white civilization is the inmost desire of the league of designated victims we call minorities."
— Joseph Sobran —

Its literally just jealousy, insecurity, and inferiority complex. and that jealousy, insecurity, and inferiority complex left to linger is what brings about an overdeveloped sense of spite, vindictiveness, hatred, hostility, bloodlust, and malice.

blackness is simply lingering jealousy and inferiority complex left unaddressed. its plays into why black people are so violent and criminal, spiteful, delusional, eager to brainwash themselves with supremacist delusions and invalid fake history.

Its why blacks are so eager to appropriate other races' accomplishments, native ethnic identities, civilizations, real life figures, inventions, etc. Its why blacks are so eager to give themselves a false sense of importance and accomplishment.

that crippling inferiority complex is why blacks are so conceited, entitled, hypocritical, and parasitic.

essentially, all of "civil rights" -and the post-civil rights era that we are currently living in, is black people wanting to do everything they can to punish white people for no other reason than character defects and internal baggage that black people are too weak to dismantle and

its also why blacks are the same wherever they go. the common denominator is blackness, black people, and black supremacy. As its BECAUSE of their blackness they feel entitled to infest upon, erase, hijack, infiltrate, and demand to overtake any white nation they encroach upon. What black people do in USA is what black people do everywhere white people exist.

which dismantles the idea that "oppression" and "racism" are the reasons why black people are the way they are. it CANT be a "legacy of slavery" as black people behave the same way in any white nation. ones that weren't colonial powers, did not engage in slavery, or bring black slaves into their country. So that point is wrong. Look at Sweden, Ireland, Scotland, Poland. its has EVERYTHING to do with blackness, black supremacy and black people.

the number 1 rule of black people is that it almost always comes back to white people. Black people's inferiority complex, jealousy, and insecurity is at its strongest within regards to white people, therefore black peoples spite, vindictiveness, hatred, and malice is also going to be at its strongest within regards to white people.

its why literally all of blackness is about obsessing over white people and looking for an excuse to be angry at them. its why so much of blackness is trying to villainize white people over things that aren't to be vilified for.

its why blacks milk things from hundreds of years ago, drumming up shit from bygone eras just so blacks have an excuse to be angry at white people today. and use the flawed logic of using modern standards and applying it to bygone eras that clearly would not have them. Black people playing the scoreboard trying to villainize white people over things that aren't to be villainized or weaponized.

its about having the courage to see things as they are TODAY. not milking things from hundreds of years ago and incorrectly trying to ascribe the dynamics of centuries ago to today.

and if we are honest, the real reason black people do that is to excuse, deflect, and justify the atrocities they are ACTIVELY committing TODAY.

there is a fundamental gap. What black people think they are vs what black people actually are. yourself included, it's clear that blacks like to "muh water fountains" their way through everything to adorn themselves in perpetual victimhood. So yall can keep the lie that blacks are just helpless victims that can do no wrong.

that is NOT who you are. the fact is blacks (for the most part) are a violent, vindictive, parasitic, demonic, wicked, monstrous, malicious, oppressive, terroristic race that ruin, destroy, burden, and worsen every community, city, and country that they encroach upon.

if you want an idea of just how demonic and evil blackness is and actively has been

[The Anti-Racist Poet Who Infected Polish Women With AIDS (REUPLOAD)]

Poland has no slaves, Poland didn't engage in colonialism. And yet this evil, demonic black devil still had a racial hatred for the very race of people that was tolerant enough to take his demonic black ass into their amazing country.

There is no more privileged race of people than blacks living in a white country (when you examine the concept of privilege properly). And despite all white people do to invite, integrate, and welcome blacks into their country. Blacks have a maliciousness to them where all they want to do is harm. Its evil.

All blacks seek to do is to destroy, ruin, hijack, steal, blackwash, or appropriate that which yall did not create, build, or facilitate.

James Baldwin himself explains black rage the best: from "Stranger in the Village"

> For this village, even were it incomparably more remote and incredibly more primitive, is the West, the West onto which I have been so strangely grafted. These people cannot be, from the point of view of power, strangers anywhere in the world; they have made the modem world, in effect, even if they do not know it. The most illiterate among them is related, in away that I am not, to Dante, Shakespeare, Michelangelo, Aeschylus, Da Vinci, Rembrandt, and Racine; the cathedral at Chartres says something to them which it cannot say to me, as indeed would New York's Empire State Building, should anyone here ever see it. Out of their hymns and dances come Beethoven and Bach. Go back a few centuries and they are in their full glory-but I am in Africa, watching the conquerors arrive.
> The rage of the disesteemed is personally fruitless, but it is also absolutely inevitable: the rage, so generally discounted, so little understood even among the people whose daily bread it is, is one of the things that makes history. Rage can only with difficulty, and never entirely, be brought under the domination of the intelligence and is therefore not susceptible to any arguments whatever. This is a

It is the final confession of the nigroe. black people hate white people for the simple fact they are jealous of them. as white people have something-both on them and within them- that brings about a cultural-civilization output and accomplishment that far exceeds anything black people themselves have done or achieved.

whats funny about this excerpt(And literally any observation on race and "being black in America" by blacks themselves) is that it shows three undeniable conclusions:

1. black people should not exist around white people. if white people's existence elicits feelings of insecurity, inferiority, and inadequacy (which then turns into rage) within black people, then it is not healthy or good for blacks to be around whites.

2. Multiracialism/multiculturalism/diversity doesn't work. It INHERENTLY brings about strife, turmoil, paranoia, tension, hostility, conflict and violence that would not otherwise be there.

3.there can ONLY EVER BE spiteful, malicious, aggressive, and violent intent as to why blacks would want to remain tethered to white people or their societies.

Think about it. If black people insist they are oppressed by white people, and have this built up rage against white people. Then why would they fight to remain close to white people? There can only ever be malicious and violent intent as to why.

Not to mention this informs greatly on why blacks are so eager to make up delusional afrocentric lies and myths to try and make themselves feel better. its not a coincidence that "civil rights" is when black supremacist delusions started becoming normalized within the black community.

youll actually have niggas on here convince themselves that Beethoven was black, or that all of the amazing achievements in architecture, art, music actually came from black people. its blacks telling on themselves. that blacks are jealous of white accomplishment. that they covet what white people have created. they covet their culture, heritage, and accomplishments and that if they pull a fast one with some black supremacist afrocentric delusions in the name of "activism" or "equality" that it'll somehow work. it doesn't.

"to be black and in America is to live in a constant state of rage" is literally blacks admitting that they are the problem. Its blacks admitting that they KNOW they don't belong in America. That they KNOW they are in a country that another race of people created, and that their rage stems from the lowly circumstances of being a largely unaccomplished race of people dependent on another race of people to provide for them.

Which gives further credence to moving to Africa or at the very least leaving behind white people and white nations. Why would you remain in a nation, place, or environment that makes you feel enraged, unwelcomed, and inadequate? Simple, there can only be spiteful, malicious, hostile, and violent intent to remain in a place you hate.

Only an evil people spread misery to others. Only evil people want to remain in a state of misery and rage. Especially when the opportunity for freedom and liberation is there to be had. And yet that is what blacks have gone out of the way to do. It has literally defined blackness, and especially so post-civil rights.

It's why the term "white supremacy" is not just in invalid term (you can't be a "supremacist" in your own country), but also a self report. It's literally blacks admitting they feel inferior to white people.

Think about it. It's not white people going around the world telling everyone that they are superior. In fact they'll do the opposite, and relegate themselves to individual status and maybe some public self-loathing just to make POC more comfortable. It's blacks(Poc to an extent as well) that encroach into every white nation like bloodthirsty sharks to talk about a mythic "supremacy" that exists.

when in reality it's just white people living in their own societies that they built. Of which black people and blackness is so hateful and vindictive in its ideology where they believe white people shouldn't be "allowed" to belong to anything or have anything to themselves, not even their own nations.

Its guilty conscience of blackness. Its blacks revealing that they feel inferior to white people, yet trying to put that onto white people as if it is white people that are exclaiming about white supremacy.

"White supremacy" is really just black cowardice. Of black people being too cowardly to reconcile with their own situation and trying to better it.

Black people clearly understand the inherent folly of being a primitive, unaccomplished race of people reliant on a white nation to provide for them. And being hostile, parasitic dependents within that white nation.

But instead of trying to better their situation and actually trying to practice what they preach in terms of black power, pride, "liberation". it's much easier to be a demonic parasite within the white society that you claim to be oppressed in and cry white supremacy. Black people understand their inferior circumstances yet are too cowardly to acknowledge it and to try to take themselves out of those undeniably lowly circumstances.

"white supremacy" is just code for white existence. And it's why blacks try to provoke a race war and are filled with such hatred literally wherever white people exist.

it's clear that white people's existence burns up black people. despite all the guilt tripping that blacks try to do against whites, its white people that are the one thing that black people, the black community, and blackness itself cannot run away from.

White people conquered, colonized and enslaved black people. But worst of all. they civilized black people. educated them, put them on to a higher quality of life and knowledge than anything they did on their own.

You can be liberated from slavery. You can be liberated from colonization. You can be liberated from invasion. But you CAN'T be liberated from being civilized. Once that's known, that can't be unknown. Though black people try (WE WUZ KANGZ N SHEEIT). And it's why blacks hate white people so much.

It's why it's so ridiculous when black people cry of "microaggressions" when black people engage in outright macroaggressions. A black person cries over a white person asking "where are you really from" (completely valid) and yet a black person will say something as outrightly malicious as "there is too many white people here" and that "something needs to be done about it"...all while occupying a white nation as a visitor.

On that, it's a BIG strike of black insecurity whenever "where are you really from" gets said, as it alludes to the idea that black people are reliant on white people and white society to live a civilized life.

its blacks having to face their cognitive dissonance and realize that they know how uniquely kind and tolerant white people are. Which flies in the face of the idea of white people being uniquely evil and oppressive.

Also a big strike of black insecurity of blacks being dependents within a white society and the societies they built. relying on white kindness, infrastructure, social systems, constitutions, laws, welfare systems, inventions, education etc.

Black people don't hate white people because they are bad. Literally the opposite, black people hate white people because they are good. and it burns black people up.

Literally the single biggest lie that black people tell themselves is WHY they hate white people. The lie is that black people hate white people because they are evil and oppressive.

When in reality they hate white people because they are jealous of them, feel inferior to them, and are dependent upon them. Like I stated earlier. Jealousy and dependency breed contempt.

White people are not hated because they are bad and evil. But rather because they are excellent, accomplished, amazing, successful, significant, and competent.

Maybe you are ignorant, but this entire multiculturalism era of the 60's and beyond has been black and brown people giving it away and admitting it. From academics to actors. To politicians to activists.

All evil requires proximity. And blackness is all about trying to gain proximity. Think of the codewords and dog whistles black people love to weaponize: inclusion, integration, diversity, equity, equality, multiculturalism, etc. Literally all of this is just a way to gain proximity. Obviously with spiteful and malicious intent.

all blacks have this impotent rage. and instead of trying to build or facilitate their own societies within their own lands. blacks can only hope to remain tethered to white societies/people long enough to hopefully destroy. all out of spite, jealousy, and weakness.

If jealousy and insecurity are at the root of black rage(and at the root of anti-white hatred), then cognitive dissonance is not far behind.

it's not a coincidence that black supremacist ideology was created during the "civil rights" generations of black people: Afrocentrism, Hebrew isrealites, nation of islam, Pan-Africanism, FBA's by Black boomers and black silent generation.

One of the biggest myths that our overly liberal post-60's white society has pushed is the lie of black strength. Blacks are not a strong people fighting for equality. They are an irredeemably spiteful, parasitic, evil people looking to destroy what they themselves did not build.

"couldn't build it, couldn't maintain it...but they want it"

Its blackness (and black people) more so than anything else that needs to be deconstructed and dismantled. As it's the most obvious problem to the point that it's an open secret, and also how privileged, protected, and powerful blackness is. And how the most powerful, legitimate, and influential of our institutions go out of the way to protect and punish on black people's behalf.

There is no situation that fears blacks the most than being left alone to their own devices:

All blacks know is living in a white society and expecting a white people/system to provide for them.

All blacks know is being entrenched within a white society and banking on white people's kindness, egalitarianism, and tolerance to accommodate them.

all blacks know is being a protected, privileged race of people enmeshed within a white nation.

everything blacks have has been given to them by white people out of misplaced pity.

Everything blacks have is the product of living in a white society and being civilized, taught, and elevated by a white culture that they are surrounded by. And blacks hate it.

There is no such thing as "black excellence". just white culture, society, and civilization that has civilized and elevated black people.

Blacks are absolutely terrified of seeing how primitive and unaccomplished they are without a white society to rely upon.

if black people see that their own countries are broken and incompetent while white societies thrive without a parasitic, needy, oppressive, and incompatible black population to ruin it, then the undeniable conclusion would be that black people were the problem. not "Systemic racism".

but insofar as blacks remained entrenched as hostile, parasitic occupants within a white nation. No one (most of all blacks themselves) would have to find out.

systemic racism is an invalid concept as its starting out on the invalid platform that the USA is "for everyone" instead of a nation that white people created.

Who's REALLY the supremacist when a race of people feels entitled to hijack and overtake a nation or "system" that wasn't theirs to start with? ESPECIALLY when BIPOC are doing this right now in our supposedly "progressive" 21st century.

if you want the best proof that blackness is parasitic. The fact that blacks somehow conflate infestation, infiltration, encroachment, and occupation with "liberation" tells you everything you need to know about the parasitic nature of blackness.

It's not "America is nothing without black people". its the other way around. black people are nothing without America. and yall know it. its why black people desperately latch onto America despite crying of systemic racism and then talking "Wakanda forever" and black liberation out of the other side of their mouth.

The fact this would be so controversial also comes from the fact that we all know its true. black people are nothing without America. All blacks have done is ride the coattails of what white people created, pioneered, spearheaded, and invented.

literally everything black people have is the product of being educated, civilized, elevated, and brought up by the white culture and civilization they are embedded in. there is no black excellence, only white culture and nations that elevated a largely primitive and unaccomplished people. If anything, the small success of black people in their respective pockets of white society shows how white culture is a tide that raises all boats.

What is "black history month" other than just a way to normalize black people within an white society they don't belong in? Trying to project the idea that black people are important and essential when their excellence is the product of being brought up and elevated within the white society they are embedded in.

despite having an entire regime state and system that backs you, you try to project yourselves as vanguards solely as a way to make yourselves feel accomplished. As blacks are largely devoid of beauty, intelligence, history, civilization, or accomplishment, blacks try to milk the "we were oppressed slaves that endured" to try to feel special and accomplished. its their claim to fame.

side note: its hilarious that black and brown people can infest into white nations, openly be proud of their race and identify with their race, then demand that white people relinquish their own racial identity and don't identify with their whiteness as it makes them uncomfortable...yet somehow its white people that are fragile ones. laughable. We literally have to use euphemisms like "the middle class" to describe white people. Identifying white people as a race makes BIPOC occupiers within white countries uncomfortable.

black narcissism and posturing to save face and cover for the fact that societies thrive without blacks. The happiest and most developed nations in the world are those that don't have black people in them.

sighs baseball, apple pie, muscle cars, high school and college marching bands, proms, diners, collegiate sports etc. literally everything about blackness is invalid. delusions to overcompensate for their inferiority complex. blacks BANKING on their privilege and power that they won't be called out and challenged on it.

It's not "America is nothing without black people". its the other way around. black people are nothing without America. and yall know it.

It's why black people desperately latch onto America despite crying of systemic racism and then talking "Wakanda forever" and black liberation out of the other side of their mouth.

and the fact this would be so controversial also comes from the fact that we all know its true. black people are nothing without America. All blacks have done is ride the coattails of what white people created, pioneered, spearheaded, and invented.

literally everything black people have is the product of being educated, civilized, elevated, and brought up by the white culture and civilization they are embedded in.

there is no black excellence, only white culture and nations that elevated a largely primitive and unaccomplished people.

If anything, the small success of black people in their respective pockets of white society shows how white culture is a tide that raises all boats.

despite having an entire regime state and system that backs you, you try to project yourselves as vanguards solely as a way to make yourselves feel accomplished. as blacks are largely devoid of beauty, intelligence, history, civilization, or accomplishment.

which is why blacks get so uncomfortable when whites say the simple phrase "move to Africa". its whites calling black people bluff and white people essentially saying "let's put it to the test" whenever blacks cry about oppression or try to posture about how important or essential they are.

just think about it. Blacks cry that they are oppressed by white people and white society. Yet their biggest fear is being removed from white society and no longer having access to it. What does that tell you?

That blacks aren't ACTUALLY oppressed. Blacks KNOW how good they have it in America. The whole "oppression" bit is just a deceitful inversion of truth to cover up the fact black people are a privileged and protected race utterly dependent on America and white people.

There is a reason why blacks were all "slaughter gang shit burn this mf to the ground" after George Floyd but just 8 months later when white people surrounded the capitol jan 6th, blacks turned into lapdog bitches and shills for the regime state they claim they are oppressed by. Blacks went from "USA needs to be destroyed" to "we need to protect our democracy" REAL quick.

There is a reason why blacks cry "Systemic racism", yet are devout statists that are all about the expansion of the state and government power. Black people know they aren't oppressed. And that the system does their bidding and benefits them.

if black people really were oppressed and the victims of systemic racism, why would black people be afraid of government collapse?

Why would they be afraid of a supposed insurrection? It's very simple, they know that the regime coddles and protects them. They know what America has become is this bastardized, invalid, minority hijacked, authoritarian, anarcho tyrannical cesspit that gives black people social and systemic power.

If that collapses, black people have nothing to rely on or be protected by. The idea that black people are vanguards fighting the "system" is laughable and wrong.

And then there is the spite aspect. Just like how there is no scenario that scares blacks more so than black people being left alone to their own devices. There is no scenario that enrages black people more so than the idea of white people being left alone to their own devices.

white people having liberation and being left alone to their own devices to thrive uninterrupted means a quest for revenge rendered unfulfilled.

it means a black inferiority complex, jealousy, insecurity, and impotent rage that blacks could no longer unleash onto white people.

blacks no longer would be able to murder, mutilate, rape, terrorize, assault, etc.

blacks would be unable to torment, harass, punish, prosecute, oppress, torture, or subjugate.

blacks would not have a white population to subjugate blacks would not have a white culture, heritage, history, or achievement to blackwash, steal or appropriate blacks would not have a white system and infrastructure to hijack or appropriate blacks would not have a white nation to plunder or destroy black people would essentially be blue balled. It would rob blacks of their essence: Spite, jealousy fueled hatred, and revenge.

The reason why blacks HATE the idea of white liberation, nationhood and the concept of white people being left alone to their own devices is precisely because it would rob blacks the ability to conduct evil onto white people.

but that in of itself gives away who REALLY is the evil one here and what the problem is. Blackness is evil. Black people are evil. Wicked and evil.

A perfect thought experiment to showcase how POC living in white nations are the most privileged group of people in the world is to imagine this scenario: white people snap. Have collectively had enough. They openly unite and recognize the attempted genocide, erasure, invasion and replacement that is happening in literally all white nations around the world.

Whites understand that it's all systemic and racially motivated. And that BIPOC harbors deep resentment and jealousy fueled hatred of them and that they are hostile infiltrators that are to be neutralized and removed in whatever form that may take. Treasonous corrupt governments collapse, nothing left to protect POC, and the ones still alive flee realizing that spite is not worth dying over.

as such, white people reconcile with what has gone on with their own nations over the last 80 years. the invasion, infiltration, treason, betrayal,etc. and whites bolster their nations,laws,constitutions in a way in which any attempted encroachment by POC is seen automatically as an act of spite, malice, invasion, supremacy, aggression and violence that is to be met with swift lethality. Of which POC realize they can never reside with white people in white society ever again.

...so what? So what? black and brown parasites lose access to white countries that are not theirs and that they don't belong in? boohoo black and brown supremacist invaders lose access to white nations that they have no genuine connection, attachment, affinity, or allegiance to? boohoo black and brown occupants lose access to white nations that they have no valid racial, ethnic, cultural, or experiential connection to, and the only REAL reason why POC would be upset is only cuz their invalid sense of revenge is rendered unfulfilled. once again, boohoo and so what.

literally the worst case scenario for POC isn't even that bad.

POC entrenched within white nations are playing with house money. in which they have everything to gain and nothing to lose. Literally the most privileged position to be in. This encapsulates the inherent privilege that POC have as occupants within white society.

From that, POC get to check their own privilege. That in living in their own nations, they realize that they don't have to deal with the burdens, strains, oppressions, and impositions that white societies are forced to deal with.

That POC have more power within their own nations than white people have within their own nations. Shit, white people aren't even openly allowed to identify their nations as white without their own government punishing them with some bullshit "hate speech" law.

That POC literally have their own nations to fall back on. Literally racially homogenous ethnostates, without ever having the label of "racist" or "Supremacy" being levied on them by virtue of them being a POC. And with that, POC realize that their "we are minorities within white nations, therefore we are the objective minority" is simply invalid.

Its black supremacy for blacks to feel like they belong to everything. its black supremacy for blacks to feel like everything belongs to them.

blacks need to understand that not everything is for them and not everything belongs to them. not everything is for everyone and that is OKAY. black people need to stop being conceited and understand that.

no, blacks are not entitled to nations, histories, native ethnic identities, civilizations, political power, lore, traditions, cultures, and access to societies that simply are not yours and are not yours to infest upon.

its black people conceding that they feel inferior. The fact that black supremacists literally have to claim other races of people's accomplishments, civilizations, inventions, and identities as their own shows that black people hate themselves.

All of that supposed black pride, power, and supremacy, and yall try to be someone else. Black people claim everything but themselves. Yall will claim you are Egyptians, moors, Hebrews, Redskin tribes (aka native americans, but that's a bad term), etc. But yall will deny that you are sub-Saharan africans.

Why exactly do black people claim black supremacy when they feel so inferior they try to claim they are another race of people? Are black people truly a proud people like they claim they are? Or do they just puff their chest out as a projection to cover up for the fact that black people are ashamed and embarrassed?

and the fact that blacks are like this in 2025 shows they have no morality or principle. any cries of "colonialism" is invalid and thrown out the door when yall try to commit the most parasitic form of squatter colonialism today in our supposed "progressive" era of the 2020's that we are living in. Many other POC can be lumped in with this as well to be fair.

its funny how black and brown people are seen as progressive by default. As progressivism is supposedly about moving forward, yet literally all black and brown people do is milk things from bygone eras, drumming up things from centuries ago just to give themselves a bargaining chip for their rage and hatred.

just to excuse their own supremacy and malice. literally all black and brown racist occupiers have is grievances and grudge holding along their own racial biases. literally the opposite of progressive and actively regressive. The idea of POC being a progressive people is a myth. its literally all tribalism and outright backwards thinking with yall.

Blacks are the last to talk about "power" as it's objectively more power hungry to demand political power within a white nation (ESPECIALLY when yall literally have an entire continent to yourselves.) then it is for whites to have primacy within their OWN COUNTRIES- which is literally what every other race does. refer to rule 1 about black people.

The ultimate problem of blackness is a very simple one. Blacks want two things that are contradictory to one another. Freedom and revenge. You can have one, or the other. You CANT have both. Blackness is the problem in that they think they can have it both. And you can't.

if black people want to get close to white people, that's black people's problem. if black people have the POWER to get close to white people. that's white people's problem. as its undeniable- there can only be spiteful, malicious, hostile, vindictive, aggressive, and violent intent as to why black people want to get close to white people.

of which, white people are perfectly valid in removing that black terrorist threat in whatever form that may take.

What black people call "equality" is just code for parasitism and what black people call "equity" and "social justice" is just code for revenge.

its about Coming to the realization that blacks were wrong. And fundamentally went about things the wrong way. they went the way of spite and revenge instead of going the way of freedom and liberation.

and no, freedom and liberation DOESN'T mean trying to remain spiteful, hostile occupants within a nation that you did not create. It would mean leaving the white nations that blacks know isn't theirs for their own nations in Africa. a parting of the ways and black people reuniting with their own people and running their own societies. A way for black people to "thrive uninterrupted".

That is literally the only way black people can achieve any dignity and self-esteem. Which is really the underlying reason why the black community is so angry and deranged to start.

"Civil rights" was blacks digging their heels in and doubling down on the wrong thing. Going the way of spite and revenge instead of the way of freedom and liberation.

From the get go, black people were wrong in their pursuits. blacks tried to appropriate white created laws,values,ideals,protections,systems,constitutions and conveniently tried to apply it for themselves.

black people demanded that white people see black people EXACTLY as they see themselves despite being a completely different race of people from another continent with a wholly different look, culture, history, way of life, etc(of course blacks would NEVER reciprocate that, on top of the fact that they would NEVER ask this of anyone else) black people somehow demanded that white people relinquish their own nation that they created just so blacks could overtake and hijack it. Just so blacks could normalize their hostile occupation and entrenchment within the white nation they hate, claim to be oppressed in, and know isn't theirs.

black people were from the get go unreasonable in what they think should have happened and what they demanded. objectively unrealistic. Any other race of people would have outright eliminated that hostile threat without a second thought.

The problem with white people has NEVER been that they were too oppressive, but rather that they have been too tolerant and accommodating.

black people were fundamentally wrong. From Douglas to DuBois to Baldwin to MLK. And every black person in between. Black people fundamentally went about things the wrong way.

If you really think about it, black parasitism and black occupation are the biggest and oldest problems that the USA has had as a country. Liberia was literally created for all black occupants inside of America to be moved to after the civil war. As that is what black people in America are: displaced Africans.

"civil rights" was never about equality. It was always about spite and revenge. The civil rights movement is really the black terrorist movement. black people were not fighting to remain in America because the USA is their country, but precisely because it was NOT their country.

In fact, it's because the USA is a white nation that black "activists" wanted to remain in America. Remember, blackness is spite. Blackness is malice. Blackness is parasitism. What good would living with their own people be for the demonic black person? losing proximity to white people means they no longer have a white nation to overtake, bastardize, or destroy.

everything about the "black experience" was blacks tacitly conceding that USA was not their country. That their mistreatment and alienation was entirely the product of them being entrenched within a nation that wasn't theirs.

All black people did during civil rights was tacitly concede that USA is a white nation, and that black people returning to Africa would be the best thing for black people to do:

"...onto this land that I am so strangely grafted"- James Baldwin

"We didn't come to Plymouth rock... the rock was dropped on us."- Malcolm X

Everything from "why are all the angels white" by Muhammed ali to "what does independence day mean for the negro" by Frederick Douglas was black people showcasing that they knew America was not for them. That it was a fundamental mismatch for black people to be in America.

But leaving the USA behind meant black people didn't have a white nation to overtake, hijack, or dismantle. And black people could care less about liberation, dignity, freedom, or having a sense of belonging with their own people.

With a vicious jealousy and insecurity as a part of their identity. and with that a vicious sense of bloodlust, hatred, spite, and vindictiveness... blacks would rather destroy than build.

for many black people, nearly all(true back then and still true today), if black people don't have a white people to punish... black people might as well be dead. they have nothing else to live for.

which is black people just showing their own evil and monstrous wickedness. but also sinking themselves deeper in the inferiority that they so desperately want to avoid.

black people HATE being taught lessons, but there is an undeniable lesson in all of this. When you act on spite, you perpetuate the very things you want to stamp out.

spite and vindictiveness is not the sign of a strong people, but the sign of a weak, evil, and pathetic people. The reason why black people are an irredeemably spiteful and vindictive people is because they are a helplessly weak, pathetic, and evil people.

But in all of their attempts to stick it to white people, to punish white people, black people have perpetuated their own inferiority by making something a rule of thumb: the blacker something is- the worse it becomes.

you name it: neighborhoods, communities, school districts, cities, countries. The blacker something becomes, the worse it becomes. And there is no shame in calling black people out for their inferiority as black people have gone out of the way to be like this.

There is a reason why your parents went out of their way to place you in predominantly white and Asian environments. There is a reason why you are so well-spoken and articulate. As stated before, white culture elevates and raises all boats.

the paradox of anti white hatred: holding to the highest standard that which is deemed the most evil and oppressive.

white people are supposedly evil and oppressive, yet POC do anything they can to infest and encroach into white countries, cultures, communities, cities, neighborhoods, school districts cuz... POC like being oppressed? How does that work exactly?

“Love black people like you love our culture”

“Love asian people like you love our food”

I’ll do you one better: Love white people like you love our nations, cultures, inventions, society, schools, neighborhoods, communities, and cities.

white people supposedly being the most evil and oppressive, yet POC being squatter colonizers expecting white people to provide civilization to them.

Demanding that white people provide a multiracial democratic utopia of perfect equality that they would never demand from another race of people as they know POC are terribly racist and tribal, with a fundamentalist view on race so POC won't even bother with it... but also only white people can be racist. How exactly does that work again?

Cannot stress enough that parasitism is the ultimate form of evil. And parasites need a host. It's why BIPOC are afraid of a white uprising. Your afraid you power, privilege, using white people as a lifeline is going to crumble.

When white people have had enough and stop caring about putting up appearances and committing acts of liberation, POC literally have nothing to guilt trip or villainize. Literally have no moral high ground to stand on, as they know they won't demand anything from POC that they asked of white people to provide.

So POC have nothing to bargain with, have no leverage when shit hits the fan and white people start getting violent.

White cities that whites built that blacks then infested upon, kicked white people out of via criminality, violence, and destruction, then destroyed in perpetual rot to this day. then having the audacity to blame "white flight" for black failure and incompetence.

Black crying White flight is a big strike of not just black insecurity but black inferiority. Blacks having entire cities nationwide that white people built to be some of the greatest cities of the world, just for blacks to destroy them with violence, ghettos, black race politics, plunder and more.

Chocolate cities are just white cities that white people built that blacks then infested upon and destroyed after the fact. Washington D.C, Baltimore, New York, Buffalo, Pittsburg, Memphis, Cleveland, Philly, St. Louis, Minneapolis, Milwaukee, Detroit, etc. You name it black people ruined it. And white people built it.

It's funny watching video essayists talk about the problem of US cities being car centric. And the lack of third places. how our neighborhoods are unwalkable. then blaming the problem on tertiary things like the car lobby.

When the fact is that the United states had thriving public areas and third places up until the 60's. The problem wasn't the car lobby. but black violence and terrorism. It was integration, "civil rights", and desegregation that destroyed public areas and third places.

But we aren't allowed to talk about that as it would implicate black people. And yall are a sacred cow, and our dominant politics wont allow for their protected pets to be called out.

Blacks are so violent and oppressive, that as a fly in the milk, the United States had to re-configure all of their cities and surrounding suburbs in such a way to stem the tide of black violence that was so rampant and infested every city nationwide.

The suburbs are just refugee camps for actual Americans.

The funny thing is if the United States became an all white nation, and all black people were just removed from America- third places would organically start popping up again. cities would thrive and there would be an oppressive violent strain just lifted off of society itself.

a zenith and prosperity would casually just boom across the nation. And all it takes is getting the demographics right.

things would naturally improve rather quickly. and that idea scares not just black people but many ideologically compromised zealots, politicians, and pseudo intellectuals who have this weird paternalistic instinct to cover up for black people.

adding more to it. If all black and brown people were removed from America, USA would have the violent crime rates and gum crimes that would be as low as those of the safest nations in Europe with the strictest gun laws. With nearly any aspect of society, USA has a race and demographic problem above all else.

Literally all of American life today is about escaping the consequences of the civil rights movement.

Civil rights movement is a lie. It was always a black supremacist hijacking of a white nation that they knew wasn't theirs.

The civil rights movement and the current post-civil rights era we are living in has just been once exercise in black violence, black crime, black terrorism, and black supremacy. one that greatly exceeds anything white people did during reconstruction.

Abraham Lincoln literally wanted blacks to be removed from America and transported to Liberia as he knew that black people didn't belong in America. The president that "freed the slaves" knew that USA is a white nation and that black people are not American, but displaced africans.

USA does not have a "Racism" problem. but a black problem. of black people being mismatched for the white nations they are dependent upon. We know now that only brings about resentment, upheaval, and violence from the insecure minority populations.

the fact this is the same in literally every white nation no matter how accommodating white people shows what the common denominator is.

Those lowly circumstances are why black people are so angry. even more so that black people are too scared to fully acknowledge and reconcile with said circumstances.

Not only are black people living in a nation that another race of people created. but black people are living in a nation that another race created, of which that race greatly exceeds the dependent black race in terms of invention, accomplishment, culture, history, significance, achievement, etc.

it not only informs on why blacks are so violent, angry, insecure, spiteful, resentful. But also why black people are so brainwashed and eager to indoctrinate themselves with delusional afrocentric black supremacist nonsense to make themselves feel better.

literally everything blacks have done post-civil rights has been digging themselves deeper and making the problem worse.

if black people want to get close to white people, that's their problem. if they have the POWER to get close to white people, that's white peoples problem. As its undeniable there is violence and malice behind why blacks want access to white people. and if that's the case(which it is, literally has defined post 60's life), white people are more than justified in neutralizing and removing that threat in whatever form that may take.

Your project of "Myth" is pretty analogous. Especially the Shattered Glass section.

How you see the mental health system and mental health professionals is how white people and greater society sees black people. blacks are the head-in-the-clouds "psychiatrists" in this whole ordeal. blacks try to project a false sense of importance and accomplishment. of course overcompensating for their crippling inferiority complex.

from rappers to actors, educators to activists, pseudo intellectuals to politicians. All try to act as revolutionaries to cover up for the fact you are pathetic dependents. There is nothing special and revolutionary about blackness. Your end goals are not only evil, demonic, spiteful, and parasitic. but ultimately pathetic and shallow.

if the entirety of the black population was removed from America (and Europe), both would improve in virtually every way over overnight. And blacks are terrified of that. As it would show undeniably that they were the problem and always were the problem. and blacks would have no leverage in anything.

literally everything from woke to DEI to CRT and everything in between is nothing more than blacks trying to sell the false idea of black importance to normalize their occupation of white societies they know aren't theirs and they know they don't belong in(as well as know they are dependent upon) A parasite trying to sink themselves deeper into a host.

Just like how you think that psychiatrists, therapists, and the like are a waste of vocal cords that don't improve or do anything useful, the same thing would apply to black people in general to a MUCH greater extent.

also like "myth" where you allude to the idea that the upholders of the mental health system can't play victim when shit gets real. also realize that applies to black and brown people as well.

you can't play victim being hostile occupants and supremacist invaders within countries that aren't yours. Cannot stress enough that milking things and going "muh water fountains", "muh segregation" to try to adorn yourselves in perpetual victimhood as a way to skirt around the atrocities and evil that blacks(other POC) ACTIVELY commit today isn't going to work.

whenever shit gets real and real shit starts popping off, whether in Europe or USA, understand that you are not the victims. and that "getting out" while you still can is the best option. isn't that what Jordan Peele taught yall? Crazy that yall LOVE the movie yet cant follow the statement that is literally in the title.

when black people riot or protest. Whether in USA, UK, Belgium, Ireland, Germany, Scotland, Canada, or any other white nation, its not going to be seen as black people "fighting for equality". its going to be rightfully seen as blacks using violence and terrorism to normalize their hostile occupation of nations that are not theirs. And its going to be met accordingly.

the fact is that white unity and liberation are easily going to be the most profound things that happen this century. For many reasons:

reconciling with what this country is. And what it isn't. And how it was bastardized by incompatible races that weren't for this nation.

actual unveiling of the covert agendas behind the subversion of this nation and what our most powerful entities were up to in their quest to destroy and infiltrate white nations. From the three-letter agencies to numerous NGO's and non-profits and beyond. All is going to be unveiled sooner or later.

unlearning certain narratives around certain subjects: reconstruction, civil war, civil rights, WW1, WW2, this "multicultural" era we are living in. And revealing all the truths and narratives that our current system keeps under wraps.

A complete and fundamental overhauling and resetting of certain important concepts: racism, oppression, supremacy, etc.

A fundamental change in the very medium of politics, society, and culture as we know it. I don't know what it may be called, but white liberation of their own nations is going to bring about things such as post-diversity, post-capitalism, post-politics.

the fact that it was all systemic and intentional. And the reason why "Diversity" was levied onto white nations is specifically because the people in power know its inherently destructive.

As the white experience can effortlessly dismantle the flaws and lies in all of these things. and change the very structure of society as we know it.

its very simple. what is happening to white people and their society is unprecedented, so it makes sense that what is to follow from that is also unprecedented.

like you said in you "Shattered Glass" section, you can only go so far with a lie. And so many lies that have been spread just to cover up and accommodate black fragility, incompetence, and insecurity are going to be exposed.

The last 60 years are going to be known as "the invalid era". As it is largely an invalid era. One of revisionism, sanitizing, crafting narratives to appease "marginalized" people.

one where the very framework that our world system relies on is where the validity of something hinges on how socially convenient and politically correct it is.

It is not a coincidence that this invalid era also coincides with the normalization of anti-white hatred and infiltration. As anti-white hatred is by and large invalid. Reliant on delusions, narratives, and lies that jealous POC are eager to internalize to soothe their internal baggage.

Lies surrounding civil rights, the lie and contradiction of multiracial democracy, two-party system, the myth of "diversity is a strength" etc. all of it is going to be dismantled.

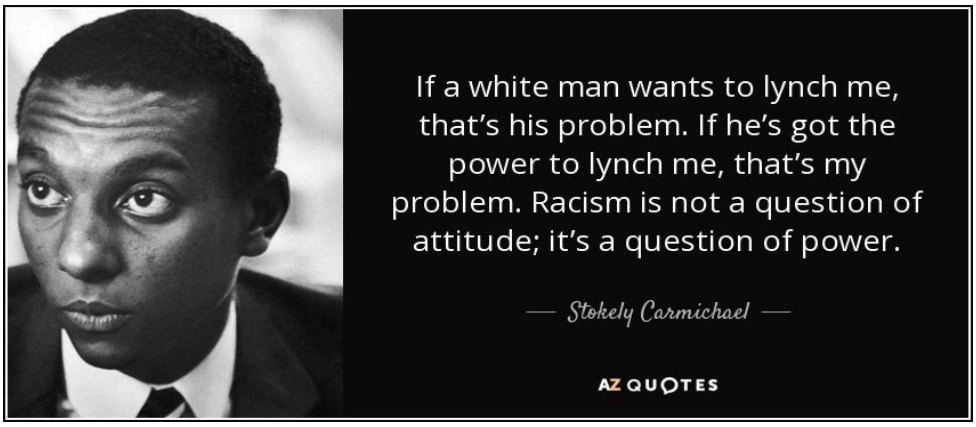
if you want the best proof that blackness is parasitic. The fact that blacks somehow conflate infestation, infiltration, invasion, encroachment, and occupation with "liberation" tells you everything you need to know about the parasitic nature of blackness.

the problem is black people and blackness as a whole. Your video is a great example though on how the white perspective is so undeniably needed. As the genuine white perspective (milquetoast conservatives losers are controlled opposition, they don't count) has been shut out.

As such, all racial discourse is broken in how unbalanced it is. Black and brown people acting out their rage and collective inferiority complex. Hearing themselves talk, projecting, posturing, overcompensating while white people hold their words out of pity and kindness.

What is really incredible is blacks truly are don't know just how demonic, evil, underhanded, and malevolent their entire identity and agendas are. They truly don't know how wicked, underhanded and monstrous their tactics, rhetoric, and methods are. But they also don't know how easily they can be turned on its head.

Take for example this Quote.



If a white man wants to lynch me, that's his problem. If he's got the power to lynch me, that's my problem. Racism is not a question of attitude; it's a question of power.
— Stokely Carmichael —
AZ QUOTES

Everything about his quote proves that black people are the problem. It's deceitful because it is blacks trying to posture as innocent flowers when they are really the bloodthirsty demons looking to remain tethered to the white nations they know aren't theirs and are only there to hijack and destroy.

Everything about the quote shows that blackness and black supremacy is ACTUALLY the problem.

First off, why would blacks remain in a society where they think they are going to be killed? Like

I said, only a demonic and evil people choose to remain in a state of rage and misery. Only an evil people choose to remain in an environment that facilitates rage and misery when the opportunity for freedom and liberation is literally right there for them.

there can only be violent, hostile, terroristic intent as to why blacks would remain in a society that isn't theirs and claim to be oppressed in. there literally is not another option.

but that's exactly what that quote from that black terrorist Stokely is. its a way to get out in front of it. as well as deceitful rhetoric from a guilty conscience. Blacks know full well that trying to hijack and overtake a white nation that isn't theirs and trying to dispossess white people within their own nations that they created is an act of war.

one that would be met with outright elimination if any other race was subjected to what white people were subjected to. The problem has NEVER been that white people are too oppressive. The problem has ALWAYS been that white people have been too tolerant. but that tolerance is running out.

not to mention that I can literally come up with a quote using the same format that completely overtakes what Stokely (and blackness itself) is trying to do:

"If black people want to get close to white people, that's their problem, if they have the POWER to get close to white people, that's our problem. Of which, all bets are off. And whites are valid and justified in neutralizing and removing the black terrorist threat in whatever form that may take."

Literally the entirety of this "multiculturalism" era has been defined by malicious hordes of BIPOC infesting upon white nations (aided by treasonous, subverted and hijacked governments) and it being made socially and politically impossible for white people to reject and refuse. And the ultimate form of oppression is stripping people of the ability to reject and refuse, as refusing and rejecting is the ultimate form of freedom.

This post-civil rights/multiculturalism era has been one giant exercise in BIPOC showing their true colors. And its not up for debate. When blacks try to gain access to white people, when they try to gain access to white people, their nations, cities, neighborhoods, communities, school districts, etc. There is violent, terroristic, malicious intent behind it. black violence, terrorism, supremacy has literally been what has defined the post-civil rights era. and its the reason (along with mass migration) that the USA is a dystopian, oppressed, suppressed, violent, third world cesspit.

All evil is parasitic. All evil requires proximity. Blackness is parasitic. Blackness requires proximity. If you look at what evil is and what blackness is, they align perfectly with one another. meaning that blackness is evil. And all BIPOC that adopt and adhere to blackness is evil. And parasites need a host. Which explains why BIPOC are so desperate to cling onto white nations despite claiming that white people are evil and white societies are oppressive.

Black peoples entrenchment within the USA-and through all white nations, is an act of spite, malice, invasion, infiltration, aggression, supremacy, and violence that deserves to be met accordingly. And white people are more than valid in extinguishing and removing all of it.

As the entire multiculturalism era has literally been defined by hordes of hostile, evil BIPOC race soldiers, hordes infesting upon white nations (aided and abetted by treasonous governments and agencies) and the systems of power making it socially and politically impossible for white people to refuse.

society has a fundamental misunderstanding of what the civil rights movement was(and its all by design why this has been suppressed out of mainstream society). the civil rights movement was NOT about equality.

it was ALWAYS about revenge and spite. it was not about blacks fighting to remain in USA because its their country. it was blacks fighting to normalize their hostile occupation of USA precisely because it was NOT their country.

As an attorney, Thurgood Marshall argued the Constitution is colorblind. As a Justice, Marshall favored racial preferences. When Justice William Douglas asked, "Why the turnaround?"
Marshall replied, "You guys have been practicing discrimination for years. Now it's our turn."
Marshall's reply accurately sums up anti-racism, social justice, equity, and whatever other term the Left uses to make their discrimination against Whites sound more palatable.
It's not about equality. It's about power -- who has it and who gets to wield it against adversaries.

If, as its founders believed, a subtler version of affirmative action was possible (with government ordering the broadening of the search but not its final result), Marshall had little interest in helping to define it. remember: blackness is spiteful, evil, wicked and monstrous. As inferiority complex, jealousy, insecurity, are the most destructive feelings a person can have. and that is undeniably at the root of what blackness is. if black people left for Africa they would have dignity, liberation, freedom, a sense of belonging. but blacks could care less about that.

losing access to the USA means they don't have a white nation to destroy and plunder from the inside. and if blacks don't have a white people to punish, then black people in America might as well be dead. black people in America have nothing to live for if they don't have that (literally gives away who the problem is doesn't it?).

dignity and freedom does nothing for them. Their entire existence is based around wanting to punish white people. for no other reason then they are jealous of them, feel inferior to them, and are angry white peoples nations and cultures vastly exceed black peoples in terms of accomplishment and significance.

The civil rights movement was not about blacks recognizing and acknowledging the reality of the situation. It was not about blacks dismantling their inferiority complex. it was literally the opposite. It was about blacks doubling down on the inferiority complex, incubating the inferiority complex, allowing the inferiority complex to fester.

so they can become the demonic horde they are today. it's not a coincidence that as blacks have gotten more privileged within America, and as white people have done more to relinquish their own nations to the malicious black population, that blacks have gotten more spiteful, more demonic, more emboldened, more manic, more fragile, more needy, more neurotic, etc. its is directly connected. blackness is a parasitic beast where the more you feed it, the hungrier it becomes.

and that is the ultimate form of oppression. Freedom is not real if you do not have the freedom to refuse or reject. And that is exactly what has happened with white people over the last 80 years.

With that, a good Segway is about BIPOC fear. When BIPOC cry of white supremacy, its guilty conscience. It's yall knowing that the day is coming when white people have had enough, and that they are going to unleash righteous acts of violence against you. As you know, being hostile occupants within white nations that isn't yours but one that you try to hijack and take for yourselves is an act of war.

but here is where the tactics of blackness and leftism as a whole can be turned on its head. No matter how violent or brutal the onslaught is. There is no playing victim that you can do. There is no "genocide" that you can cry. for multiple reasons.

there is no genocide against hostile occupants. At the absolute end of the day, BIPOC in America and Europe are nothing more than hostile occupants entrenched within nations they don't belong in and are mismatched for.

Yall have set the precedent: Mao, Stalin, pol pot. You pseudo-intellectuals, BIPOC, leftists have gone out of the way to move the goal post on what constitutes genocide. and have gone out of the way to justify mass killings.

there is no such thing as "genocide" against hostile occupants within nations that are not theirs. There is a reason why what the Haitians did to the French isn't considered a genocide. there is a reason why what the Vietnamese, Afghans, Iraqis did to Americans isn't considered genocide. There is no "genocide" against hostile occupants. there is no "genocide" when you have a home base to return to. Civil rights and the multiculturalism era was nothing more than distraction to cover up the fact that BIPOC are hostile occupants within white nations that aren't theirs.

this is where BIPOC get to check their privilege. you lose nothing getting tossed out of white nations. you lose access to societies that are not yours and dont belong in. ones that you did not create, that you did not build. one that you have no genuine racial, ethnic, cultural, and experiential connection to.

ones that you have no genuine attachment, allegiance, or affinity to. and the only reason why yall would be angry at losing access to white people is bcuz it means a quest for revenge rendered unfulfilled.

but that gives away that BIPOC are the evil ones right then and there. as your quest for revenge is invalid. as your collective hatred of white people purely comes from character defects and internal baggage that yall have still yet to work on.

white people can engage in a rampage slaughterfest through every BIPOC they find and it wont be genocide. and yall wont be the victim. yall had every chance to follow through on your talks of "liberation", Wakanda forever, black power, black excellence, Pan-Africanism, etc. And staying in America out of spite just to try and destroy white people/society from the inside out of jealousy deserves to be met with outright liberation via elimination.

BIPOC are only as oppressed in so far as they want to remain spiteful. As spite, hatred, and malice is the only reason why BIPOC wants access to white society and people.

under no circumstance should black violence, hostility, crime, intimidation, occupation, and terrorism EVER be normalized within a white nation. It's what makes the post-60's world so broken and messed up. and it's a good thing it's collapsing.

then it's onto the topic of colonialism. It doesn't take much for BIPOC to reveal themselves and show their true colors. Any talk of colonialism just gives away that it's all about racial revenge. and that everything that BIPOC do, infiltrating white nations, is racially motivated. which gives white people all the justification they need to eliminate the hostile threats promptly.

what's hilarious about BIPOC talking about colonialism is that yall will bloviate on end about how evil colonialism is...just to want to do colonialism yourselves.

this is not up for debate. if colonialism is this grand evil back 300 years ago, then it can only ever be more evil today. So why is it that BIPOC are so eager to commit neo-colonialism today? its simple... cuz yall are evil and malicious.

ESPECIALLY when you consider yall literally got your liberation and have your own independent nations. The colonialism you are crying about is over. And yet yall love milking shit and drumming shit up from bygone eras just to stoke your own rage, hatred and evil agendas.

BIPOC don't get to speak on colonialism because the most parasitic form of colonialism is done today by BIPOC. Squatter colonialism/3rd world colonialism by black and brown invaders is literally the most parasitic (and evil) form of colonialism there is.

White people spread themselves out and created completely new nations from scratch from the undeveloped wilderness. Whites were tiny minorities within Africa and Asia, mainly armed forces trying to develop and nation-build largely primitive lands.

BIPOC on the other hand infest en masse upon already developed, built nations with a long established heritage, nationhood, infrastructure, culture, identity, civilization... just to try and appropriate and hijack what white people are, created, and built. Of which they infest en masse just to take advantage of subverted and broken welfare systems, immigration systems, welfare systems just to then have the audacity to claim they are just as [insert white based nationality/ethnicity/identity here] as the native white population. Even though their infestation and importation into said white nations is completely invalid, illegitimate, recent and contrived.

white people NEVER did this. they made the distinction of who they were and who the POC were. white people never tried to claim they were the real Nigerians, Indonesians, native redskins, Vietnamese ,etc. And yet that is exactly what BIPOC to. all evil is parasitic. and there is an undeniable parasitic quality to BIPOC.

squatter colonialism that POC do and the settler colonialism that white people did are not even close to the same. One built, while the other infests and leeches off of.

and it's an egregious double whammy. where the not only is the squatter colonialism that BIPOC partake in is undeniably more parasitic than the settler colonialism that BIPOC complain about from centuries ago, but its a colonialism that POC actively commits today. and they'll go out of the way to justify it. POC have no moral high ground and never did. All they have is malicious, evil agendas, and bastardized principles and morality to work their way backwards to justify it.

This shows just how valid white liberation is and how blinded BIPOC are. So BIPOC are still angry about colonialism (despite white colonialism being over and gaining their independence) and want to engage in colonialism themselves out of spite and pettiness, right? It's that "you colonized us, so we want to colonize you" type of backwards and evil mentality that BIPOC have gone out of the way to stand behind. But colonialism ends with the removal of the foreign settler population.

So if BIPOC wants to engage in neo-colonialism, then they are going to have to reconcile with the fact that it eventually ends with white people gaining their independence from BIPOC invasion/colonialism and the expulsion of the BIPOC squatter colonial population. The fact that BIPOC are so blinded by this shows how deranged, demented, and delusional they have become.

It doesn't stop there. It goes deeper. Turning BIPOC tactics on their head. The fact is, whatever white violence that you are afraid of, there is not genocide you can endure. for the simple fact there is no such thing as genocide.

race isn't real remember? race is just a sOcIaL cOnStRuCt(the term social construct really does break black people's brains), and yall wanted to stand on the invalid logic that race is a social construct, therefore its not real.

“one race human race” remember? “We all bleed red” remember? Although sharks bleed red, dogs bleed red. so does that mean sharks and dogs are the same as humans? liberals and BIPOC never made it that far in the logic, so how does that work exactly?

Nevertheless, blacks need to stand on business. if "race isn't real". then genocide isn't real. so there is no "genocide" you can endure if whatever you fear comes to fruition.

in fact, look at the root of the word-genocide. the word genocide alludes to the idea that race is real. that there is a genetic basis of race. but DATS RACIST. so when yall use that word so loosely, yall are conceding that you biologicalize race. That you have a fundamentalist, essentialist, fascist reading on race. And we are in the 2020's! The standard that yall set is that fascism needs to be punished. We are in the post-1945 world.

so fascism needs to be punished in all forms. so when yall invariably cry "muh genocide" for what's about to happen to yall, all you are doing is conceding is that BIPOC are fascists. as yall have a fascist take on race. which means that BIPOC deserve to be punished for their fascism alone. as that is the standard that you wanted to set.

And black people still haven't fully been on the receiving end of their own mentality. I can go farther.

if race is a social construct, and white people "invented" race as yall claim. And this white invention is racist, and we are to follow the black logic that if its racist, its invalid. then that means that black people dont exist.

remember, black people NEVER saw themselves as black. They saw themselves based on tribes. There NEVER was a black identity that black people themselves used or created on their own. The very existence of black people is entirely reliant on a racist social classification that white people created.

The very existence of the "black race" comes from white people. But if it was white racists that created that classification, and that classification was racist, then that means creation of the black race was racist and therefore invalid. Which means that black people don't exist.

and if black people dont exist, then there can be no genocide of black people. as black people aren't even a thing.

Moreover, blacks identifying with their race is an act of racism and supremacy. why are blacks so tribal and fascist that they are identifying with their skin color and being "proud" of it? thats racist. And racists deserve to be punished. So that alone means blacks deserve punishment being a hostile threat for being tribal, racist, fascists.

advocating for your race is racism and supremacy. as is being proud of your race. as is worrying that a "genocide" is taking place against your people. After all, that's a right wing conspiracy theory, remember? there is no such thing as genocide, and looking out for your own people, even acknowledging your own people is racist and an act of supremacy.

After all, that's the logic and tactics that blacks levied onto white people. More so, that's the very systematic game that this society has tried to levy onto white people. It's all about putting black people on the receiving end of their own mentality. and blacks would soon realize that there is no privilege being held to the highest scrutiny.

but you see where this is going? On multiple levels, blacks truly have no idea just how badly their own rhetoric, tactics, talking points, and methods can blow up in their face. that their own tactics can be turned on their head and placed right back onto them.

What your video showed, unintentionally, is that all racial discourse is broken. And the reason its broken is particularly because the white voice has been shut out. The white perspective is the most essential and necessary perspective in racial discourse, for the reason that whites are being subjected to a strain, oppression, imposition, replacement, and systematic invasion that no other race is going through.

there is nothing for BIPOC to add. All of their rhetoric and talks of race is just BIPOC riddled with internal baggage and character defects crying out in rage as a protected, powerful, and privileged people angry that a white society they don't belong in isn't accommodating them enough. and that "diversity is a strength" solely as a way to cling onto the white nations they rely upon to support them. just a case of parasites justifying their parasitism.

with whites. you are going to get the dismantling of so many sacred cows: multiculturalism, civil rights, equality, the myth of BIPOC morality and victimhood and much more.

white people and the white community is going to be able to educate all of society on the fundamentals of political theory. white people have been put through the ringer, and with that, they have the most valid and tried-and-true takes on what politics is and the lies of what politics tries to be. And on top of that the systems of power and all of their vindictive agendas which is going to completely alter the way we view things.

What is funny is that Black people love to posture themselves as woke, but in reality are easily the most sheltered and naive race of people in society. all of white society has sanitized all aspects of life just to accommodate black fragility and insecurity. black people don't know much about anything. and don't know anything outside of the confines of their own blackness, which is ULTRA narrow and largely invalid as well. Not to mention all of the most powerful systems do everything they can to protect, import, and facilitate blacks being a protected, privileged race of people within the white societies they claim to be oppressed in.

blacks don't use words in accordance to what they mean. but as signifiers to how they feel. they just match their feelings to the words that have a similar connotation. There is very little in terms of intelligence, integrity, logic, or reason when it comes to black people. It's all primitive emotions and feelings.

oppression has a negative connotation. fascism has a negative connotation. racism has a negative connotation. so black people use abuse labels just as a way to signal things they don't like or disapprove of.

When black people cry of “stopping fascism”, it's just code for stopping white people from having liberation and independence within their country. As blacks people see white people having something for themselves as bad, so just smear it as fascism. It's slimy, disgusting, and pathetic.

So when black people cry about being oppressed, it's just black people angry at their inferior circumstances: of being a largely primitive, unaccomplished people that are also a parasitic and dependent people reliant on nations that other groups of people created. and those other races of people blacks are reliant upon also greatly exceeding blacks in terms of achievement, significance, invention, civilization, accomplishment, etc.

Blacks know of their situation, but because of their spite and vindictiveness, want to dig their heels in and remain parasitic dependents within the societies they hate, aren't theirs, and claim to be oppressed in. which then perpetuates the inferior circumstances they hate.

Society has a fundamental misunderstanding of what the civil rights movement was. It was not ever about black people fighting for equality. It was ALWAYS about revenge and spite. It was about black people fighting to normalize their hostile occupation of a white nation that they KNEW wasn't theirs.

But black people returning to Africa means they dont have a white nation to overtake, hijack, or destroy. They dont have a white people to rape, subjugate, torment, or murder. Returning to Africa would strip blacks of their ability to conduct evil onto white people. Which shows how evil and malicious blackness is, that the USA has a black problem, and that the civil rights movement was a lie.

It was ALWAYS about spite, revenge, and terror. The civil rights movement was really the black supremacist movement. And the six decades after the black supremacist movement was an era of black violence, terror, and hostile occupation. And white liberation is going to expose the systematic lies that our hijacked nation has told us for the last 70 years.

the "civil rights movement" wasn't blacks having the wherewithal to acknowledge their lowly circumstances and trying to dismantle their seething inferiority complex, jealousy, insecurity and resentment. It was all about blacks doubling down on the inferiority complex, jealousy, and insecurity. And by extension- incubating their demonic sense of hate, spite, vindictiveness, malice, and yearning to destroy whatever they felt inferior to and jealous of. All in the name of "social justice" or "equity".

until black people understand what they are and who they are, and take off the rose-tinted glasses of being a supposedly moral people fighting for equality, blacks are always going to be in a state of ignorance and shock when you are rightfully treated and seen as the evil, oppressive, parasitic monsters that they are.

And no, you can't be oppressed while being a disproportionately violent, parasitic, and hostile people while also being a privileged and protected people while ALSO being spiteful terroristic occupants within a nation that is not yours. It's simply invalid to claim that black people are oppressed. Everything with how black people behave, act, talk, the tactics they use in real life shows they are an oppressive and emboldened people that knows how good it is to be black in the USA. All cries of oppression is just a deceitful inversion of the truth.

Remember, supremacy is inherently an act of offense. Black people demanding that white people relinquish their own country to blacks, demanding they relinquish their own racial identity(all the while keeping their own), demanding political power to normalize their hostile parasitic occupation of a white nation can ONLY be an act of black supremacy. White people rejecting that and removing that black supremacist threat outright can ONLY be an act of defense. therefore, CANT be supremacy.

There is no such thing as black power, black liberation, black nationalism, black pride, black excellence while being entrenched within a white nation. Only black supremacy. Only black terrorism. And as such, it's to be removed and eliminated in whatever form that may take.

The fundamental problem of blackness is very simple. They want two things that are inherently contradictory to one another: freedom and revenge. The problem of blackness and black people is blacks thinking they can have both. you cant. they are inherently incompatible with one another.

But black people need to take their own advice. They need to seek out, hear, and listen to white voices, White perspectives, white insights. Even if it means it makes black people uncomfortable, even if it rattles their fragility, even if it threatens their identity and what they think they know. The white perspective needs to be heard and understood by BIPOC. As that is the truest way to get the most valid and thorough sense of racial discourse.

What white people aren't allowed to say is literally where all the answers to the racial problems are going to lie. And it's for that reason that white people have been so suppressed in what they are allowed to say.

And so many delusions that black people spout off on goes unchallenged as they are in the "post-civil rights bubble". where blacks are the ultimate sacred cow and are the most privileged, protected, and powerful race of society, in which there is great punishment and penalty to anyone who dares step up and challenge blacks on their nonsense. just for blacks to then have the audacity to claim they are somehow oppressed when the entire country does everything to subsidize, protect, lie, and provide for them.

All white people have to do is give their perspective and be direct and honest for black people (and society as a whole) to collectively quake in their boots. its why yall cry "racist" or "nazi" as a pathetic act of fragility, as y'all are too cowardly to argue the points and take in what white people are saying. As you are afraid to see how correct white people are.

Blacks are terrified of hearing white people's perspective for fear of agreeing with what "the white racist" has to say. Of which black people's identity is threatened upon hearing and agreeing with white people. So blacks try to cut it off on the front end to not let white people be heard.

There is a fundamental misunderstanding about what the civil rights movement was. It was not black people acknowledging and dismantling their inferiority complex, jealousy, and insecurity. But rather doubling down on it. It literally explains everything about why black people are the way they are today: violent, angry, spiteful, parasitic, jealous, delusional, conceited, entitled, oppressive, eager to brainwash themselves with black supremacy. Eager to radicalize themselves with whatever evil ideology makes them feet better. Its literally why black supremacist and terrorist movements started and were normalized during the "civil rights" era: black silent generation and black boomers.

The civil rights movement was not black people fighting for equality. But fighting to normalize their hostile occupation. and blacks did not fight bcuz USA was their country, but precisely because it was NOT their country. Blacks knew their "oppression" and "mistreatment" was solely the product of blacks knowing they were entrenched within a white nation that white people created. And blacks knew the lowly and downtrodden position of being needy dependents within a white nation that wasn't theirs. Blacks knew of their inferior circumstances but doubled down on their spite, further facilitatating their inferior circumstances. Instead of returning to Africa, which would literally take black people out of the inferior circumstances they hate so much.

But returning to Africa does nothing for blacks who are demonic, spiteful, and evil. Black occupants in America could care less about liberation, dignity, freedom, a sense of belonging, returning to their roots, no longer being alienated. When inferiority complex, jealousy, and insecurity consumes a people, and a people allow it to take over them, all they have is spite, bloodlust, and an eagerness to destroy that which they are jealous of and that which they feel inferior to. And THAT is what the civil rights movement is all about. its what blackness is all about today.

Remember, all evil is parasitic. and all evil requires proximity. Blackness is parasitic and blackness is all about gaining proximity. If you look at what evil is and what blackness is, they align perfectly with one another.

For blacks, returning to Africa would strip themselves of the ability to harm white people. to engage in evil acts against white people. And in order to wage a war against white people, you need proximity to them. which is why black occupants within America wanted to normalize their hostile occupation of America under the guise of "civil rights".

When white liberation happens, that shit is getting renamed the black supremacist movement, the black terrorist movement, the black plague, or some variation of that. and rightfully so.

Twenty years ago today, DC Sniper John Muhammad was convicted. Muhammad's accomplice, Lee Malvo, testified they planned to kill 6 Whites a day for 30 days. The case got much press, but the anti-White motivation didn't. This is a British headline because American media avoided the racial nature of the case.

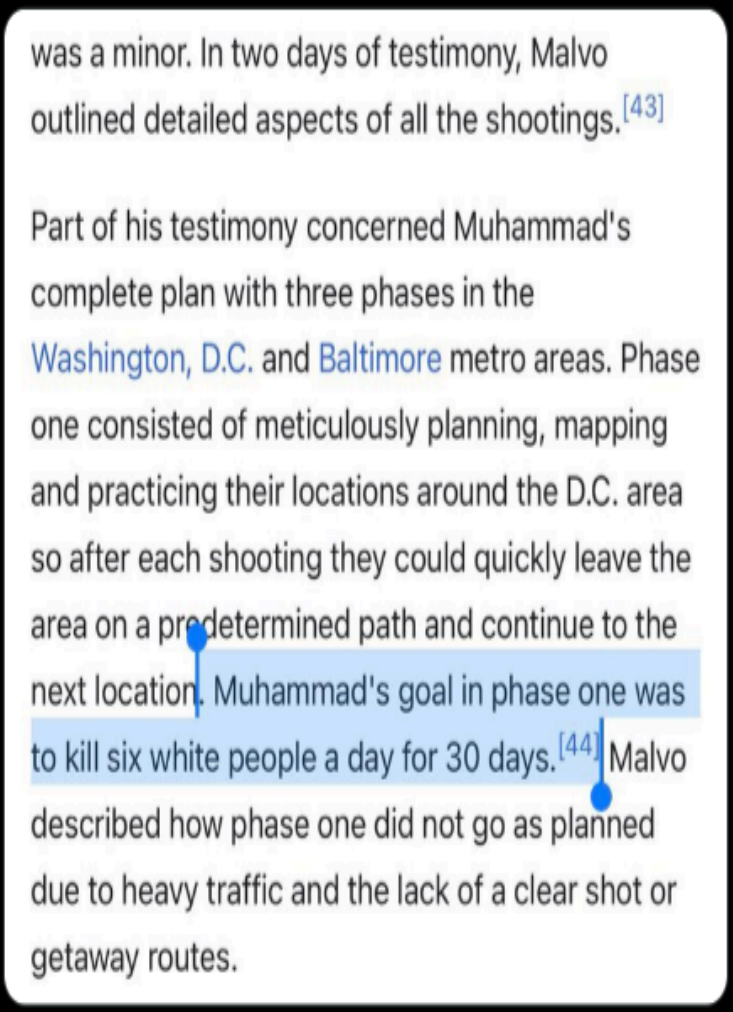
Because someone questioned my veracity on this post, I'll share the supporting evidence up here for all to see.

That authentic headline from @TheTelegraphUK is based entirely on co-conspirator Lee Malvo's testimony.



was a minor. In two days of testimony, Malvo outlined detailed aspects of all the shootings.[43]

Part of his testimony concerned Muhammad's complete plan with three phases in the Washington, D.C. and Baltimore metro areas. Phase one consisted of meticulously planning, mapping and practicing their locations around the D.C. area so after each shooting they could quickly leave the area on a predetermined path and continue to the next location. Muhammad's goal in phase one was to kill six white people a day for 30 days.[44] Malvo described how phase one did not go as planned due to heavy traffic and the lack of a clear shot or getaway routes.

If the races were reversed, the racial motivations of the killers would be the focus of the documentary.
This is how media, including documentary makers, create a false racial zeitgeist by focusing on or omitting details to forward their White Oppressor-Black Victim narrative.

Blacks are so deranged by their vindictiveness and wickedness that they don't realize that separating from white people and white nations is literally the best thing for everyone involved. white people don't have to deal with the external torment of being on the receiving end of terrible oppressive bloodthirsty violence from black people hopped up on the most demonic and destructive attitudes imaginable.

And black people don't have to deal with the internal torment of living in a constant state of rage, resentment, inferiority, inadequacy, jealousy, and insecurity. It's literally a win-win. But blacks STILL don't want to let go. Spite, jealousy-fueled hatred and revenge is still what black people and blackness is all about.

Everything from Douglas's "what does independence day mean to the negro" to ali's "why are all the angels white" to Malcolm X's "We didn't arrive on Plymouth rock" is black people conceding that USA is not their country. That the USA is a white nation.

ali talking about "all the angels being white" as well as all of the models being white, Even a "strong" black man like Ali casually conceding his insecurity and jealousy.

It all gives an undeniable answer that black people are incompatible with America. And it is torturous for black people to remain in America. Civil rights is where black people got it wrong. Black people today need to learn from it and leave. There is no other way to achieve the “healing” that you so desire.

Even your "being black in America video" is reliant on the post-civil rights bubble. reliant on white people holding their tongue, as the things that white people "aren't allowed to say" eviscerates so many of the points of your video: the lie of black people "building America", the lie of "black wall street", George Floyd being murdered, lynching, black lives matter- the movement, the message, and the organization. The post-civil rights bubble is the only thing that protects not just the points made in your video, but the entire identity of blackness and all of their delusional tenets. And that bubble is getting popped sooner or later.

Whether you want to admit it or not, your resentment that you have in your "endlessly conflicted" section of your "Being black in America" video is just you realizing (but not ready to acknowledge) that your black ancestors made the wrong decision... on a fundamental level.

If blacks returned to Africa after slavery, they would have had more than a century to build up their own continent. They would have had more than a century to acclimate with their own people. Your resentment is simply a product of you realizing that black ancestors staying in America out of spite just to "stick it" to white people was the wrong move to make. How much hardship would blacks have avoided if they returned to Africa? Jim Crow, lynching, redlining, etc. (All of these are the product of blacks being hostile occupants within a white nation that isn't theirs btw).

And for what? Blacks aren't REALLY seen as American. You are just black. USA is a white nation and a white identity. And the negro fatigue that is felt across white nations right now is going to give way to white people no longer putting up the charade. They are done acting like blacks are americans, they're not. White people are done acting like blacks belong in America or any white nation in Europe or elsewhere.

Everyone Is Tired Of Black People, Including Black People Themselves

Going to your "shattered Glass" section of Myth, its incredible how your writing on the mental health system and the dynamic between patient and doctor is very analogous to the racial dynamic between white people and black people.

As you state, if doctors just shut up and listen to their patients, understand where they are coming from, most of the problems would be alleviated. Same thing on race, if blacks had the courage to sit down and listen to white people, and hear their view on everything that has to do with race, most of these problems would be alleviated. But the last thing blacks would ever want to do is understand where white people are coming from. For fear of realizing that the "racist" might be correct. so you murder, rape, assault, destroy, weaponize "hate speech" laws that you benefit from, or do whatever underhanded tactics yall can do to shut down white people. All from a place of cowardice. All from a place of fear and spite.

White people opened up their nations to black people. Tried everything they could to integrate black people into society. But what they did was inadvertently curse black people with knowledge.

black people living in white nations, seeing a people not only more beautiful than them, but also more accomplished, cultured, successful, excellent, tolerant and kind than them. Walking in the cities that are vastly more developed, innovative, and prosperous than anything blacks have built on their own. While also walking in cities/villages rich in heritage, history, culture, and significance that vastly exceeds anything blacks have of their own, all while being spiteful/hostile/ungrateful dependents within white nations, reliant on white peoples kindness and charity.

blacks understand the scope, scale, severity, and magnitude of their own black inferiority. and realize just how wide that rift is. as such, blacks will never forgive white people. as white people's tolerance and openness just gave way to blacks realizing the extent of their own inferiority. Cursed with knowledge they can't unknow. and bringing about a feeling of

When I was in college at Temple University (in the middle of the N Philly hood) an elective class I took involved going 10 blocks off campus to help out at a community garden, which was built and maintained by Temple students. The garden was supposed to provide fresh produce to the 99% black community surrounding the school.
Well, my college kept having to build higher and higher fences because the neighborhood kids would inevitably come in and destroy it - tear up the plants, steal the tools, etc. The teachers couldn't come up with a politically correct reason why this kept happening, but even I as a brainwashed 19 yo instinctually knew why:
It was nothing more than seething resentment at White college students coming to their neighborhood with fancy tools and healthy food (stuff they dubbed as White). Just blind hatred of people who were more "privileged" than them, even if we used our privilege to help their dysfunctional community. Eventually the project was scrapped and the course was canceled due to the fact that black people wouldn't stop destroying everything we tried to grow for them.

inadequacy, jealousy, inferiority, and insecurity that blacks simply cant shake off. the last thing black people would ever want to feel is gratitude being put on to a quality of life that they did not achieve on their own. To be educated and elevated by another race of people in such a way that all supposed “black excellence” is entirely a product of white culture, civilization, and society.

It's why the more tolerant, kind, and egalitarian white people become, the more spiteful, hateful, deranged, and malicious blacks become. Blackness is a beast where the more tolerant you are, the more emboldened it becomes.

As such, black people's entire existence is wanting to punish white people... for no other reason than egregious character defects and internal baggage that blacks as a whole are too weak to dismantle or get rid of.

Even innocent videos that are not racial at all still showcase white culture. Even more impressive considering white culture is the ultimate taboo so as to accommodate BIPOC fragility and insecurity.

paintings, sculptures are an undeniable part of white culture, the white experience, white ingenuity and what white people value. race, ancestry, heritage passed down. where the resemblance is still there among a people even centuries later. Its amazing.

its not a coincidence that there are no black people here. as blacks are largely devoid of culture, history, and accomplishment. Intricate paintings and sculptures go way beyond what black civilizations had and way beyond their scope.

white IG and white twitter is where you are not just going to find some good starting points on white perspectives that are undeniably needed. but legitimately good points on politics and society as a whole.

Couple points that black people need to understand:
- white supremacy ISNT a thing. its just code for white existence that black people absolutely hate. Black people have a VICIOUS hatred of white people
- "systemic racism" isnt a thing. Just black people being mismatched for the country they are entrenched in
- "systemic racism" and even BLM are tacit admissions that black people deep down know that dont belong in USA
- jealousy, insecurity, and inferiority complex are at the root of black rage (james baldwins stranger in the village perfectly deconstructs black rage)
- the biggest lie that black people tell themselves is WHY they hate white people. they dont hate white people cuz they are evil and oppressive (blacks literally do everything they can have proximity to white people), they hate white people cuz they feel inferior to, are jealous of, and are dependent upon them. Jealousy and dependency breed contempt
-blacks dont hate whites cuz they are bad. literally the opposite. They hate whites cuz they are good, accomplished, successful, amazing, tolerant, kind, cultured, excellent, etc.
- the reason that blacks are angry isnt cuz they are oppressed and facing injustice. But rather cuz they are an angry, insecure people with no dignity and self-esteem. and there is NO dignity to be had being a parasitic dependent in a white country that you claim to be oppressed in but still try to cling onto
- the only way for black people to gain any semblance of dignity is to leave white people behind and to live with their own people within their own countries. Where they can build, create, and maintain on their own as a people.
- insofar as black people have proximity to white people and white society, blacks are always going to be angry. They are always going to be jealous, insecure, enraged, resentful, spiteful, vindictive and have a feeling of inadequacy, insecurity and inferiority that they wont be able to shake off. with that, blacks are going to radicalize themselves with black supremacist delusions, revisionist history, invalid afrocentrism to brainwash themselves into becoming terrorist race soldiers looking to destroy or hijack what they havent built or maintained. All out of jealousy, spite, and weakness.
-As such, blacks are always going to blame a mythical "white supremacy" for their problems. As a way to dig their heels in on the lie on why they are so angry. As the reality of the situation is too great for them to admit.
- which is why separation and leaving USA (and white people behind) for black nations elsewhere in the world is the true way to liberation. its the only way for black people to be liberated and gain dignity. And it would be the best for all groups of people involved.

Hope I gave you some insight and perspective.

the worst thing you can tell a normie is that the most effortful and comprehensive piece of social conditioning in the history of the world was pathologizing racism and psychologizing it as unnatural and antisocial and they are the victims of it this is why the greatest evil is white people having the 'freedom' of association even hearing the words 'freedom of association' makes their mind error out into believing it is an antiracist concept, because the freedom to associate with whites is always a net positive for horde worlders, there is actually no reason to not parasite on white cultural appendages and institutions – and they cannot fathom why whites wouldnt want to take on the burden of associating with pollutants

what makes this so funny and based ironypilled is that we are so far into this elaborate conditioning that horde worlders have no reason to not claim these appendages and institutions as their own – or at minimum, argue that they are abstracted pluralist civic institutions which is simply dismissed by the fact that jewish occupation of the west turned nations into economic zones its improper for whites to claim freedom of association in any of their own cultural institutions, the old rhetoric used to be because they wuz built on da back of da marginalized n shiet but now the obese mammy sheboon, and the subcon expat in the west who have limited reasoning abilities cannot fathom that just because they have been allowed to occupy these institutions, they have no right to claim them – this is wrong to imply because they iz workin in dem, they be associated professors n shiet, how do dey not be havin da rights to dem

why dont they just skip the whole evil racist white person school and spend all the time they can edumacating on black history

i know why, its because everything they say, think, and act is racial terrorism against white people, they fucking hate white people and operate as politically, economically and socially sanctioned terrorists

the simple fact is that it doesnt really matter if you play semantics about a white genocide with jews and 'gros, they obviously want it to happen, every action they take is in retaliation for white people being soup ear eor to them

these people are completely incompatible in the western world, they literally cannot live under the burgeoning constraints of civilization -- and because they cant, everyone must suffer... i want to write longer form work on this concept of demos misery due to egalitarianism and how it relates to incompatibility of populations

Reminder that b[redacted]ck people have killed and raped more w[redacted]te people in Chicago alone than were ever lynched between 1880 and 1970 in the entire south.

The Tuskegee Institute has recorded the lynchings of 3,446 blacks and the lynchings of 1,297 whites, all of which occurred between 1882 and 1968, with the peak occurring in the 1890s, at a time of economic stress in the South and increasing political suppression of blacks.

we have all seen the meme that says "parents: go play outside" then it shows the average suburban road made for car commuters isolated in their cars loud and polluting topple this with the rising age of internet addiction and nowadays you would be hard pressed to find a group of children playing outside unsupervised, we have walked ourselves into an 80 layer deep existential socio-cultural-familial-structural-political nightmare this is not a monoculture, this is DARK CULTURE– the void of culture no wonder in this emptyness people turn to decadent cultural phenomenon promoted as 'legit' by the jewish occupying class, things like JPEG-MAFIA music which actually hurts to acknowledge for an increasingly small portion of the population trust me, im in the know on how underground and dope ole peggy is, i promise you his music is painstakingly trash and artificial jpegmafia will make a song about how much he hates white boys and how he would kill white boys then he pulls up to the venue with 486 'indie not-like-other-white-boys in the crowd

then he court jesters for them like a good goyim all in all im disgusted by the lot of them, im so god damn sick of white boys turning to nigrowphilia out of cultural desparation but this phenomenon of how it came to be like this, is rooted DEEPLY in americanism
i will elaborate next slide, pretty much the way i use 'americanism' is as a terminology for anything bad (morally bad from a heroic perspective) at this point

i stumbled across a literal goldmine of retardation
i was on the nietzsche subreddit yesterday and there was some black guy who was coping about nietzsche calling apefricans "made to endure slavery" and boiling his point to the classic line that "NietZsChE WaS a Man oF hIs tIMe" and that the reason he was racist then he wrote like 3 paragraphs about how if nietzsche saw all the wonderful art and culture that blegg americans made he would change his mind, even referencing james baldwin to prove his point... NIGGA THIS IS WHAT BLACKS ARE! GYNOCRATIC LONGHOUSE SLAVE CASTE DECADENT HUMAN DEFECTIVES!!! THEY HAVE NO CULTURE OTHER THAN DECADENCE, EVEN THE HEIGHTS OF BLACK ART ARE CHARACTERIZED ENTIRELY BY EUROPEAN ELEMENTS, AND FOR MY NEXT WHITE DEVIL MAGIC TRICK, I WILL PROVE IT WITH A QUOTE FROM JAMES BALDWIN, THE SO-CALLED PINNACLE OF BLACK ART, IN THE NEXT SLIDE

james baldwin after visiting a remote village in the swiss alps
"For this village, even were it incomparably more remote and incredibly more primitive, is the West, the West onto which I have been so strangely grafted. These people cannot be, from the point of view of power, strangers anywhere in the world; they have made the modem world, in effect, even if they do not know it. The most illiterate among them is related, in away that I am not, to Dante, Shakespeare, Michelangelo, Aeschylus, Da Vinci, Rembrandt, and Racine; the cathedral at Chartres says something to them which it cannot say to me, as indeed would New York's Empire State Building, should anyone here ever see it. Out of their hymns and dances come Beethoven and Bach. Go back a few centuries and they are in their full glory-but I am in Africa, watching the conquerors arrive.
The rage of the disesteemed is personally fruitless, but it is also absolutely inevitable: the rage, so generally discounted, so little understood even among the people whose daily bread it is, is one of the things that makes history. Rage can only with difficulty, and never entirely, be brought under the domination of the intelligence and is therefore not susceptible to any arguments whatever. This is a fact which ordinary representatives of the Herrenvolk, having never felt this rage and being unable to imagine, quite fail to understand. Also, rage cannot be hidden, it can only be dissembled. This dissembling deludes the thoughtless, and strengthens rage and adds, to rage, contempt."
a final confession of the negro, a fledged ressentimente for all things which they can not, and will NEVER have

The reason both parties allow other races to have advocacy groups and demonize white racial views is because they know this clown show ends when white people wake up.
No more two party system, no more microplastics in the water/ artificial poison in the food, no more foreign financial loopholes, and no more degenerate Hollywood black people are only as "oppressed" insofar as they want to remain spiteful. as their eagerness to have access to white people and white society purely comes from a place of spite and malice. As such, black people deserve no sympathy.

black people, POC, BIPOC,etc got way too comfortable with white people. And sooner or later, they are never going to be comfortable with white people again.
